

Snowmobile

It has been snowing all day and the trails are not packed. Your dad's snowmobile gets stuck in a snowdrift. How do you get him out? Are you prepared?

Snowmobile

Your machine has an unexpected breakdown. Are you prepared to fix your machine on the trail? Are you prepared if you can't fix your snowmobile?

Snowmobile

You have misjudged your gas usage; both you and your dad have run out of gas. It is almost dark. Are you prepared to spend the night?

Snowmobile

A member of your party has an accident, running into a tree. She has a slight laceration on her face. Are you prepared?

Snowmobile

It is a warm spring morning in the mountains when you leave for your ride. Around lunch time you notice the winds pick up and the sky darken. You are about an hour from the trailhead when the cold front passes. Are you prepared?

Snowmobile

You are snowmobiling with friends and family in mountainous terrain. Your friends see a steep slope they want to ascend to see who can go the highest. Is this a good idea? Why or why not? If you do decide to go are you prepared and how should you proceed?

Snowmobile

Your family wants to snowmobile cross-country—through snowy meadows, fields, and open forests. Are you prepared? For what?

Snowmobile

You are snowmobiling at a high elevation and the ground is completely snow covered. You want to continue to your final destination but you can't see the trail. Will you be able to continue? Are you prepared?

Snowmobile

You are headed to your favorite lunch spot. You arrive the area is a mess and it is obvious that others have eaten lunch here recently. Are you prepared?

Snowmobile

It is a beautiful bluebird day in the mountains. You and a buddy have been riding for a few hours and realize you are not quite sure where you are. You pull out your GPS and the batteries have died. Are you prepared?